Five Sauces

That'll Make You Actually Crave Your Diet

Benjamin Throssell

Doggie,

I know this'll probably sound a little nutso.

But I'm about to show you…

How To Transform Your Physique In Just Five Minutes!

Ridiculous, right?

I must think you were born yesterday, or that you've been living under a rock, or that you're just plain stupid.

How else could I think making a claim like transforming you in mere minutes would be something you'd actually believe?

Maybe I'm just crazy.

Or maybe…

It's true, and I can back it up 😎

Over the next few pages, I'm about to rock your tastebuds and your world.

I'm going to bestow upon you the secrets to using just five minutes (or fewer) to make getting lean and jacked incredibly simple… and equally delicious.

Your skepticism is thick right now. I can feel it.

"But hang on… didn't I just buy a recipe ebook? Isn't this just a few sauces?"

(That's you, asking that.)

And here's me, answering:

This is not just some recipe book.

I mean, sure. It's a few sauces.

But what those sauces do is where the power lies. Because one of the best diet tips in existence is this:

Make your food delicious and easy.

Sounds weird, no? Shouldn't it be, "Eat foods that keep you full, or digest slow, or keep your protein high"?

Nah. It's "make your food delicious and easy".

Think about it: if you wanna transform your body, you simply cannot escape dieting. You must follow a diet if you want to lose your gut and shrink your backside and firm up your arms.

We can't change that part.

But odds are, if you're reading this, you've run into the same dieting roadblock me and everyone else trying to get sexy has…

Following a diet is bloody boring, and bloody laborious.

True, right? And if it's too boring and too hard, then you'll end up quittin'. Tell me I'm wrong! Tell me that the last food to make you blow your last attempt was less delicious and harder to make than what you were eating when you were losing weight.

See what I'm saying?

If you ask me, this doesn't get talked about nearly often enough.

Ease and enjoyment are the biggest power ups that exist in the dieting world.

And I'm about to show you how to unlock them. Over the next few pages, I'll show you how to make your food so easy and so enjoyable,

Over the next few pages, I'll show you how to make your food so easy and so enjoyable, dieting will become a breeze.

The sauces that follow are simple, low fuss, plug-and-play additions to turn your diet deliciousness up a few notches, without adding a stack of effort. Add them into your rotation, increase the draw your diet has, make it something you want to eat – and watch how easy it gets to stick to the plan.

And voila – just like that, five minutes to unlock your transformation and build the body you've always wanted.

All that's left to do is dig in, get reading, and follow the very simple instructions I've laid out for you.

I can't wait for you to experience how easy and fast this is…

And all I ask is that you send transformation photos when it starts to work.

Now, shall we?

The Sauces

01	02	03	04	05
Golden Sauce	Lazy Chimmi	Nuoc Cham-pion	Avo Crema	Light Ranch

01 Golden Sauce

MAKES ENOUGH FOR 10 SERVES

41 CALORIES	1g PROTEIN	4g CARBS	3g FAT

INGREDIENTS

01 6 tbsp oyster sauce · 90g

02 4 tbsp light soy sauce · 60g

03 2 tbsp sesame oil · 25g

04 3 heaped tbsp crushed ginger, jarred · 100g

05 1 heaped tbsp minced garlic, jarred · 20g

06 1-2 tbsp honey

INSTRUCTIONS

Add everything to a small jar and shake until combined.

This sauce is sweet, savoury, and fragrant. Taste it on its own, and it'll put hairs on your chest. Across a meal, it's the star of the show that brings everything together.

POWER UP

The fresh version of this is very sexy, and is my personal preference. Try switching to fresh garlic (2 cloves, ~10g), fresh ginger (a big piece, ~50g), and ditching the honey. The brightness of the fresh ginger brings this alive and I find it doesn't need the sweetness.

Be warned, though: the freshness starts to dip after about two days in the fridge. When that happens, refresh it with a touch of rice vinegar and a dollop of honey for balance.

SERVE THIS ON...

1 Chicken thigh, steamed rice and bok choy
Air fryer or pan sear chicken thigh, and serve with steamed rice and bok choy. Drizzle Golden Sauce over the whole thing, and you've got a simple, succulent Chinese meal (iykyk).

2 Beef and broccoli rice bowl
Pan fried beef strips, steamed broccoli, steamed (or a packet of microwave) rice, Golden Sauce through the whole bowl, and toasted sesame seeds on top if you're feeling fancy. Dinner in ten minutes — you're welcome.

3 Salmon, jasmine rice and edamame
Add a splash of rice vinegar and your Golden Sauce cuts through the richness of salmon better than almost anything. Edamame for texture and protein without any extra cooking — just defrost from frozen — and you've got another simple banger of a meal.

02 Lazy Chimmi

MAKES ENOUGH FOR 10 SERVES

94 CALORIES	0g PROTEIN	1g CARBS	10g FAT

INGREDIENTS

01 8 tbsp extra virgin olive oil · 100g

02 4 tbsp red wine vinegar · 60g

03 1 big handful of parsley, chopped fine · 75g

04 2 tsp dried oregano · 2-3g

05 2 cloves garlic, minced · 10g

06 1 tsp salt, level · 6g

07 1 pinch red chilli flakes, optional

INSTRUCTIONS

Pour a splash of boiling water over the oregano (and chilli, if using). Let it sit while you finely chop the garlic (please, don't use jarred here!) and parsley, and then add all ingredients to a small jar and shake. Leave for at least half an hour before using.

This sauce is made to be intense, bold and in your face so you don't need to douse your meal with it. If you'd prefer a more mellow flavour, add a little water to dilute it.

POWER UP

Use a food processor to make this even easier. Pulse the garlic a few times first, and then blitz the parsley until fine while the oregano and chilli bloom. Then, pulse in the vinegar and olive oil.

To keep this fresh, I like to make a giant batch and freeze it into ice cubes. It'll lose a bit of visual vibrancy, but tastes just as good. If you like, leave the vinegar out before freezing, and add it after defrosting to preserve the punch.

SERVE THIS ON...

1 Steak wrap with chimmi mayo and salad
Slice up a pan fried steak, make chimmi with mayo instead of oil as a spread, and load it into a wrap with cos, tomato and red onion. Oof.

2 Sheet tray chicken and roasted vegetables
Chicken thighs, capsicum, zucchini and red onion on a tray, with a heavy season of salt and herbs, roasted until golden, and chimichurri drizzled over it straight out of the oven. One tray, minimal cleanup, and it looks and tastes way sexier than it should for the effort that went into it.

3 Scrambled eggs, avo and feta on toast with chimichurri
Soft scrambled eggs on sourdough, smashed avo, crumbled feta, chimichurri over the top. The acid and herb cuts through the richness of the egg and avo perfectly, and I love a little extra chilli on top.

03 Nuoc Cham-pion

MAKES ENOUGH FOR 10 SERVES

28 CALORIES	0g PROTEIN	7g CARBS	0g FAT

INGREDIENTS

01 4 tbsp fish sauce · 60g

02 4 tbsp sugar · 60g

03 2 tbsp fresh lime juice · 30g

04 2 cloves garlic, finely minced · 10g

05 1-2 Thai bird's eye chilies, finely chopped, optional

INSTRUCTIONS

Add ¼ cup (~60g) warm water to a jar with the sugar, and shake to dissolve. Then, add your other ingredients, and serve immediately or keep in the fridge. If you prefer a more mellow flavour, add another ¼ cup water.

Bottled lime juice will work in a pinch, or rice vinegar is an easy, shelf stable swap for lime if you can't get your hands on it. The flavour balance is still right, but it loses some of the bright, floral complexity you get from real deal citrus.

POWER UP

This sauce freezes extremely well, and will also last in the fridge for up to a month if you use a clean jar and new spoon each time you serve. It loses a little punch the longer it sits, which is why I freeze it into ice cubes and pop them out into a zip lock for easy sauce whenever I need it.

SERVE THIS ON...

1. Rice noodles, shredded rotisserie chicken, and bag salad
   This is as easy as it gets. Cook a big batch of rice noodles, shred up a roast chook, and rinse some salad leaves or herbs (plus slicing up some cucumber and carrot if you've got the time). Toss it all together with your Nuoc Cham-pion for the easiest meal of your life.

2. Prawn summer rolls
   Shrimp, herbs like mint, coriander and Thai basil, and salad bits like lettuce, cucumber and carrot. Roll them up if you've got the time, or make it even easier and serve with rice noodles instead of the same vibe in a different format.

3. Grilled pork and rice
   My favourite meal from Ho Chi Minh City: Com Tam. Marinated pork chop with rice, a fried egg, and Nuoc Cham-pion, along with some fresh veg. Mind-blowingly good, and if your pork is grilled ahead of time, this is shockingly easy too.

   It's not traditional, but you could marinate the pork in your sauce with a bit of lemongrass, but don't leave it too long or the acid will start to break down the meat.

04 Avo Crema

MAKES ENOUGH FOR 10 SERVES

30 CALORIES	1g PROTEIN	2g CARBS	2g FAT

INGREDIENTS

01 1 large ripe avocado · 150g

02 3 tbsp plain non-fat greek yoghurt (full fat is fine if you're not on lower calories) · 75g

03 1 tbsp fresh lime juice · 15g

04 1 handful coriander, leaves and tender stems

05 1-2 cloves garlic, finely minced

06 ½ a jalapeno and/or a pinch of cumin, optional

INSTRUCTIONS

Add all the ingredients to a blender or food processor with ¼ teaspoon of salt (~2g) and ¼ cup water, and blend until smooth. You might have to stop and scrape down the sides one or two times. Add another ¼ cup of water if you prefer a thinner, more pour-able consistency.

Give it a final taste before adding to a jar. Add extra salt to turn up the flavour 'volume', or add a little more acid to make it brighter.

If you can't get fresh limes, lemons will do, and bottled juice will work in a pinch.

POWER UP

This is another freezer friendly-ish sauce, but with one caveat: avo loves to brown when it's in contact with oxygen. When you freeze, press cling film to the surface of the sauce to prevent browning and keep it fresh and vibrant. If you want to keep it long term, transfer to a zip lock bag and suck the air out (or for best results, vacuum seal if you have one).

When defrosted, give the sauce a vigorous stir if it separates slightly, and refresh with a bit of salt and acid if it needs it.

SERVE THIS ON...

1 Spiced chicken bowl
Mexican-leaning chicken thigh, black beans, corn and tomato over rice, with Avo Crema and a crumble of feta or cotija on top. A sexy Mexi bowl in no time.

2 Fish tacos
Grilled or air fryer white fish, shredded cabbage, hot sauce, Avo Crema on corn tortillas. It's a saucy, creamy, ultra satisfying meal that has no business being this fast, easy and good.

3 Breakfast burrito
Soft scrambled eggs, a slice of melty American cheese, pickled red onions and Avo Crema in a mini burrito with avo crema for dunking. Serve with a piece of fruit so I'm still your diet coach, and enjoy.

05 Light Ranch

MAKES ENOUGH FOR 10 SERVES

47 CALORIES	1g PROTEIN	1g CARBS	4g FATS

INGREDIENTS

01 3 tbsp good mayo · 50g

02 4 tbsp plain non-fat greek yoghurt (full fat is fine if you're not on lower calories) · 125g

03 1 tbsp lemon juice · 15g

04 1 tsp onion powder · 5g

05 1 tsp garlic powder · 5g

06 1 tsp herb mix (dried dill, dried parsley, dried chives — all optional, but recommended)

INSTRUCTIONS

Whisk all ingredients with ¼ tsp salt (~2g), a few cranks of black pepper and ¼ cup water in a medium bowl until smooth.

Give it a final taste before adding to a jar. Add extra salt to turn up the flavour 'volume', or add a little more acid to make it brighter. Once you're happy, leave it for at least an hour to let the flavours combine.

And a note: this sauce will thicken slightly over the first few hours as the garlic, onion and herbs hydrate, and consistency will depend on the kind of yoghurt you use.

POWER UP

This sauce might not be freezer friendly, but it's very easy to turn into a low effort recipe. Make a dry blend of all your seasonings: salt and pepper, dried herbs, garlic and onion powder. Keep them in a jar, and add them to the sauce base whenever you run out.

SERVE THIS ON...

1 Chicken, bacon and ranch loaded baked potato
Microwave or air fryer the potato, top with diced chicken, crispy bacon bits and a generous drizzle of light ranch with cheddar and spring onions to garnish. Please eat this alongside a salad – the calories are fine, the eating experience will be stellar, but I'm supposed to be giving you healthy stuff and a few spring onions is not enough green 🤣

2 Chicken tendie salad bowl
Crispy air fryer chicken tenders over cos lettuce, cherry tomatoes, corn and red onion with ranch through the whole thing. This is how salads should be (though I think I owe the crispy chicken tendies as much as I do the ranch for that…).

3 Chopped salad wrap
Cos lettuce, cherry tomatoes, cucumber, red onion and your protein of choice — chicken or tuna both work — chopped fine, Light Ranch all through it, wrapped in a wrap. It's fast to assemble, genuinely satisfying, and it holds together better than a regular wrap because everything's chopped small.

And there you have it, doggie.

How To Transform Your Physique In Just Five Minutes!

Told you I wasn't crazy.

But a word of caution:

Now you have the sauces, here's what I would NOT do.

I would NOT get fancy, trying to MasterChef every single meal, and take everything you eat to Level Ten delicious and completely overhaul the way you eat.

Without a plan, that's a recipe for crashing and burning — which is not one of the five I just gave you, and not what this thing was designed to do for you.

But…

Maybe you do want Level Ten delicious. Maybe you do want to overhaul the way you eat, and leverage these Five Sauces into launching a brand new diet to overhaul your body. And maybe you just need the right plan to help you do it.

In that case, I've got good news for you 😉

I've got a plan for how to do just that, and it's called…

Power Prep: Your First Week's Meals, Sorted!

And it does exactly what it says on the tin.

I'll tell you exactly what you need to shop for and cook to get your first week (and your Five Sauces) off the ground…

I'll let you in on why the foods I give you are pure magic, and why I've put them together the way I have to just about guarantee your success…

And I'll show you the "backyard" system you can steal from me that'll transform this simple Power Prep process into a self-refining results machine that works better and better the more you use it.

So, if you want to know exactly what you need to do next to launch into this week with a brand new plan, you can check out Power Prep: Your First Week's Meals, Sorted! using the QR code or link below.

Or, if you'd rather figure things out solo, then get to work with your Sauces! Slap a grocery order together, buy yourself the ingredients for the first one or two that really got your mouth watering, and get them on top of your meals, STAT.

Can't wait to hear how you go.

Your coach,
Benjamin Throssell
